

Marbletown and Hurley Settle on Assessments But Olive Stands Pat

Two Ulster County Towns Settle
Tax Differences With New York
City; Legal Battle Ends After Several Years.

$5,000,000 IN OLIVE

Olive, Where Much of Reservoir,
Dams and Dykes Lie, Will Fight
Any Reduction.

Stipulations have been entered into between the assessors of the towns of Marbletown and Hurley and the City of New York whereby the differences in the assessed valuations of Ashokan property as laid by the assessors of those towns and the officials of the city of New York have been adjusted and Justice Gilbert V. Schenck has granted an order dismissing the certiorari proceedings which the city brought to review the assessments.

This action brings to a close the pending certiorari proceedings which have been pending to review the assessed valuation of city property in the two towns for the years 1929 to 1935 inclusive. The stipulations are made dismissing the proceedings without costs in consideration of the reduction in assessed valuations which have been granted in the 1936 assessments. An agreement has been reached between the assessors of the towns and the city of New York whereby in consideration of the reduction of assessed valuations the review actions are discontinued. In Marbletown the assessors, ratified by the town board, have reduced the assessment on New York city property from $721,625 to $621,625, a reduction of $100,000 in assessment. In Hurley the reduction was from $1,305,198 to $1,155,000.

The $5,000,000 assessment in Olive still stands and the reductions and stipulations in the other two towns will not affect the Olive assessment or the legal steps which have been instituted in that town.

Relieved Of Decisions.

Through the reductions in assessments and the stipulations to discontinue the certiorari proceedings in Hurley and Marbletown those two towns are relieved of any adverse decisions of the court which might have resulted in a direction of the court to reduce the assessed valuation with its retroactive "refund" by the town to the city in the event the courts held that the assessments from 1929 to date had been excessive.

The agreement to discontinue the certiorari proceedings against these two towns has definitely established the fact that the towns will not be called upon to make any refund of taxes which have been collected.

In Olive the differences between the town assessors and the city have not been settled and the $5,000,000 assessed valuation stands. This matter had been heard before two referees. In the 1929 proceedings before the late Alvin Lambert it was held by the referee and confirmed by the Court of Appeals that the $5,000,000 assessment was a just one. In the 1930 proceeding before Referee Norton he held that the $5,000,000 assessment was excessive and from that decision of Mr. Norton an appeal has been taken.

However since the Court of Appeals has already said that in 1929 the $5,000,000 assessment was fair it may be expected that the 1930 assessment of $5,000,000 will also be held fair and just.

In the certiorari proceedings H. H. Flemming and Robert G. Groves appeared for the towns in the 1929 to 1935 actions and in 1934 and 1935 Arthur B. Ewig appeared for the towns.

Began in 1929

When the city of New York constructed the Ashokan reservoir there were certain increases in assessed valuation laid by the assessors but not until 1929, following a decision of the higher courts, did the assessors attempt to assess the city property on a construction cost basis. When the assessors of the three towns in which the major portion of the huge Ashokan reservoir lies attempted to increase the assessed valuations the city of New York objected and began certiorari proceedings to review the assessments with the idea of securing a substantial reduction. The city contended that the towns could not assess on cost basis or a replacement basis but the higher courts in the Olive case decided this was legal.

During the long legal proceedings the city did not pay taxes and at one time the property was advertised for sale but before the date of the sale or taxes came the city paid its back taxes under protest and redeemed the huge reservoir. Later the court held that replacement or cost of the reservoir could be used as a basis for laying the assessment. The recent settlement in Hurley and Marbletown now removes two pending actions and leaves only the Olive case to be disposed of. In this case the assessors granted no reduction and the court held the city should be assessed for the full $5,000,000. It is in Olive that most of the reservoir and the dams and dykes lie.

King Meets With His Privy Council Today

London, Oct. 27 (AP).—King Edward presided at a routine, 20-minute session of the Privy Council and received distinguished subjects today while his American friend, Mrs. Wallis Simpson, was at Ipswich, obtaining a divorce.

The Privy Council session was called to conduct business in connection with the reassembling of Parliament this week.

During the afternoon, the king received in audience at Buckingham Palace the Sultan of Selangor and the Marquis of Zeland, secretary of state for India.

Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, also had a half hour audience with the king after the Privy Council session.

Deep Mystery at Shokan Has Very Simple Solution

There was considerable excitement in various quarters this morning after Frank Myers, who runs a gas station at Shokan, had reported that a car had stopped near his place about one o'clock this morning and a man had got out and gone off with a flashlight, apparently toward city property and the reservoir.

Myers reported to Deputy Sheriff Rudolph DeSilva that the car, a 1935 Chevrolet coach, was still parked at his place and the man had not returned.

DeSilva notified Sheriff Mohrman, who sent Deputy Sheriff Brown with DeSilva to investigate the matter at Shokan and meanwhile tried to get in touch with the family of the man who owned the car according to the registration number given as listed at the Motor Vehicle Bureau. Numerous telephone calls failed to locate any such man as having been spending the night at Shokan and inquiries were still being made when the deputies returned and reported that the license number as reported was not the number on the car; also that the car had been removed.

The mystery was solved when it was found that "Chet" Lyons, the Ashokan garage man, had returned from a trip late last night and had run out of his car near Myers place. He had parked his car there, taken his flashlight and gone on home, entirely unsuspecting of the furor he was causing.

Registration Fight Looms As Albany Leaders Make Charges

By The Associated Press

New York state's record registration for the November 2 election was complicated today by charges of individual registrants and sharp verbal exchanges between party workers in various cities.

In Albany, Leo M. Doody, Democratic commissioner of public welfare, asserted in a radio address that outside investigators of registrations had been brought to the city by the Republicans "to smear the city."

Doody said the Albany registration books were "as nearly perfect as human care and experience can make them."

Rephing, Charles C. Wing, Albany county Republican chairman, said in a formal statement that "I confidently believe the next legislature will be Republican and I am fully determined to take an investigation of Albany" and "Democratic organizations."

Wing said "honest citizens have no fear of the investigation which has been taking place."

In New York city, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine said the police check of registration irregularities had resulted in the issuance of 457 warrants for the arrest of illegal registrants, compared with a total of 523 issued last year.

Reds Put Raw Youths Into Trenches South of Madrid, Rebels Gain

"Human Avalanche," Unleashes
Desperate Counter-Attack at Dawn in Surprise Rush; Fall of Capital Imminent.

PORTUGAL ACTS

Portugal Recognizes Provisional
Fascist Government; Semi-Starvation in Capital.

On the Madrid battlefield, Oct. 27 (AP).—Heavy fighting raged over a wide front today as a "human avalanche" of raw Madrid government troops unleashed a desperate counter-attack in an attempt to stem the Fascist sweep toward the capital.

Jumping the gun on the heralded insurgent "zero hour" for the final assault on Madrid, wave after wave of Socialist militia rushed across the Castilian plains at dawn.

Caught by surprise, the Fascist high command rushed up artillery, tanks and armored cars to beat off the attack.

The Socialist thrust was aimed at the strategic Navalcarnero sector, with the troops advancing out of Mostoles, 10 miles south of Madrid. Fierce-fighting Moorish Legionnaires spread quickly over the sector and fought savagely, hand-to-hand.

The fury of the attack left the Fascists momentarily thunderstruck. They were sleeping heavily, storing up long needed strength for the "big push" on Madrid which was expected to be signaled within 48 hours.

"Blackbirds of Death"

Confidence over the prospects of a swift seizure of the capital had been heightened by reports brought back to the insurgent lines by Fascist "blackbirds of death." On their raids over Madrid, they said, they had seen long lines of refugee automobiles streaming out of the capital on the eastbound road to Valencia.

The Fascist Provisional Government at Burgos further declared the way was paved for either a "starve-out" siege or a smashing blow which would take Madrid "within three to 10 days."

Madrid was isolated; the Burgos communists said, asserting that rail communication from the capital was severed at El Escorial, northwest of Madrid, and at Aranjuez, to the south.

Sweeping down from the El Escorial region and westward from above Illuecas, where they had been driven by Gen. Jose Verela's insurgent advance, the Socialist troops dotted the countryside with nests of machine gunners and riflemen who opened a withering fire on the startled Fascists.

Planes Drop Bombs

Apparently intent upon cutting the road between Valdeolado and Navalcarnero, the Socialist artillery hurled 60 shells into Navalcarnero itself. A squadron of Fascist planes hurriedly took off, amid the rain of bursting shells, and effectively silenced the Socialist guns with bombs.

At the same time, Fascist tanks and armored cars plunged into the battle and drove the untrained Madrid troops scurrying to cover.

Two thousand Moorish Legionnaires joined in the battle, which saw the Madrid troops wilt and fall back toward Mostoles.

Meantime insurgent aircraft machine-gunned Madrid but confined their fire largely to government anti-aircraft batteries.

Rebels Recognized

London, Oct. 27 (AP).—Portugal, which last week severed diplomatic relations with the Spanish Socialist government—has recognized the Fascist provisional government, informed British sources said today.

Authoritative quarters declared insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco has not yet requested Great Britain to grant diplomatic recognition to the Burgos regime.

Information of the Portuguese action was reported in government circles shortly after a scheduled meeting of the neutrality sub-committee.

Semi-Starvation Extols

Talavera De La Reina, Spain, Oct. 27 (AP).—American newspaper correspondents, captured by Fascists on an expedition from Madrid, described today to their American colleagues semi-starvation conditions reigning in the capital and declared:

"It is quite possible the militia will run from Madrid when it is attacked. Madrid can be taken within two days."

The newspapermen, who were sent to Salamanca for questioning by Generalissimo Francisco Franco, privately told the Americans of continuing retreating with the Socialist forces in what they described as "complete rout" after recent battles on the Madrid front.

They said long lines of road-seekers were forming in Madrid with supplies limited.

"There are many trenches around Madrid," the correspondents added, "but they are nothing more than shallow ditches such as the militia deserted at Navalcarnero as soon as the Moors got within rifle range."

People View Dictatorship Trends with Alarm, Declares Judge Bleakley in Kingston

Republican Candidate for Governor
Speaks to Huge Audience
at Kingston Municipal Auditorium
This Noon.

ELTING Praised

The Republican County Chairman
Draws Praise From Judge
Bleakley.

"In view of the world-wide trend toward dictatorships, thinking people today regard this seizure of power by their chief executives in state and nation with definite distrust and alarm," said Judge William F. Bleakley, Republican candidate for governor, addressing the Republican rally held in the Municipal Auditorium at noon today.

In the course of his address the judge, who proved an eloquent and forceful speaker, assailed the New Deal both in state and nation. Despite the fact that the rally was held at the noon hour the auditorium was filled with a large and enthusiastic audience of over a thousand men and women from all sections of the county, who had gathered to hear Judge Bleakley in his first public appearance before an Ulster county audience.

Judge Bleakley following his address here motored to Poughkeepsie where he was to address another rally. The judge and his party made the trip to Kingston by automobile from Westchester county.

Long before the arrival of Judge Bleakley at the auditorium the huge hall began to fill with a large and eager audience. So intense was the interest displayed in hearing and seeing Judge Bleakley that many in the audience had driven long distances in order to be present.

Philip Elting, Ulster county chairman, presided, and in his opening remarks said that he was greatly pleased with the splendid attendance at the rally, considering the unreasonable hour at which it was being held. Mr. Elting predicted that on November 3, Ulster county would roll up the largest majority for the Republican ticket in the entire history of the county.

Escorts Bleakley.

As Mr. Elting was speaking Judge Bleakley and his party who had been slightly delayed entered the auditorium. Mr. Elting halted in his remarks and walked toward the steps that led to the stage as the huge audience jumped to its feet and with cheers and applause welcomed the rousing welcome to Judge Bleakley who was escorted to the platform by Mr. Elting.

Mr. Elting then briefly introduced the various county candidates for office this fall. William E. Bruyn, presidential elector; Congressman Goodwin, who stated he would continue to uphold the constitution of the United States if re-elected; County Judge Frederick G. Traver, County Clerk James A. Simpson; Senator Wicks; Assemblyman J. Edward Conway and District Attorney Cleon B. Murray.

The veteran leader of the Republican party in Ulster county recalled that in 1904 he became a member of the Ulster county Republican committee and during all the years that have passed since then only two other members of that original committee were still alive and active in the Republican ranks. Those other two were Joel Brink of Katrine and George Garrison of Accord.

Senator Pearson, who made such a favorable impression when he spoke at Tilton Lake last summer again delivered an inspiring and forceful address.

Assemblyman J. Edward Conway introduced Judge Bleakley and as the judge arose to speak he was again greeted with a mighty salvo of applause which lasted for several minutes. Judge Bleakley spoke as follows:

I am exceedingly glad to be here with you today in Ulster county, a banner Republican county in the state and in the Third Judicial District.

Looking at the enrollment and voting records of Ulster county, as I have done recently and with a good deal of interest, I see in these records eloquent testimony of the excellence of the Republican organization in the county, and of the splendid leadership of your veteran county chairman, Phil Elting, former collector of the port of New York.

There was a time, as you know, that Ulster county was a Democratic county. In fact, it was in the Democratic column when Phil Elting took over the chairmanship of the county committee. The efficacy of his work and his leadership are reflected in the fact that Ulster, long since, went Republican, and has stayed that way ever since.

Furthermore, I have every confidence that a week from today Ulster county will outdo itself in rolling up unprecedented pluralities for candidates running for office on

Cold Wave Hits Eastern States Sending Temperatures Tumbling

Coldest Weather This Season Grips Kingston

Last night was the coldest so far experienced this fall in Kingston and the official city thermometer at the city hall recorded a low of 24 degrees above zero, while thermometers in other sections of the city recorded as low as 18 degrees.

Auto owners who had left their cars parked outside found that the water in the radiators had frozen, and had some difficulty in starting their cars.

Householders who had utensils filled with water standing outdoors during the night report that nearly half an inch of ice had frozen in them.

The recording of 24 above zero was recorded at 6:30 o'clock, and at 8 the official thermometer recorded 27 degrees above. The cold weather continued throughout the morning.

Ogle Resisted and Is Arrested; Fined

Westport, Conn., Man Parked His Car on Left Hand Side of Broadway—When Arrested Puts Up
Struggle—Is Fined $15.

Alfred McCartney Ogle, 27, of Westport, Conn., drove down Broadway on Monday and parked his Ford roadster on the left hand side of Broadway where it was found by the crew of one of the radio cars. Mr. Ogle was placed under arrest on a charge of a violation of the traffic law, and when the officers said he would have to go to police headquarters with them he is accused of putting up a struggle and resisting arrest. He furnished bail for his appearance this morning in police court.

When arraigned before Judge Culliton he entered a plea of guilty to both charges, but said that the charge of resisting arrest was exaggerated as a man's muscles would naturally stiffen when grabbed by two men.

Judge Culliton fined Ogle $10 on the charge of resisting arrest, and $2 on the charge of wrong parking. Ogle paid his fines.

John Hogan of Albany, arrested for public intoxication on Thomas street, was sentenced to three days in the county jail.

Gold assets, $11,016,262, 624 01.

Fined $10. for Assault

Madeline Durrity of East Kingston who was charged by Ella May Williams, another East Kingston woman, with having beat her, was arrested Monday by deputy Sheriff McCullough and Pierce. An arraignment before Justice John Waisza, Monday night.

Law Suit Over Digging 2 Wells

A law suit involving payment for digging two wells was taken up in supreme court Monday and late in the afternoon a verdict was returned by the jury. John J. Van Loan sued Samuel H. Shapiro on a contract for work, labor and services seeking to recover for two wells drilled for defendant. A verdict of no cause of action was returned. One well was drilled in 1929 and one in 1931 and the defendant claims one of the wells never supplied water.

Newton H. Fennenden with Joseph M. Campbell of central papers for the plaintiff and Sp. Brian A. Speerburgh appeared for the defendant.

MILTON

Milton, Oct. 27.—A Republican rally will be held in St. James Hall, Milton, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Both Italian and English speakers will be heard. A fine orchestra, under the direction of Paul Zucca of Kingston, will furnish music for the dancing, which will follow. Committee in charge is Charles Mataraza, Emil Gasparoli and Mrs. Clarence Dayton.

Official word from Washington reveals that the $45,000 PWA grant made two weeks ago for the Milton new school building cannot now be allowed, since all contracts for the building were let some time ago and the work is already under way. The Central School Board of Education, however, has made a request for at least part of this sum for grading and landscaping the grounds of both Marlborough and Milton schools. Both are in the town of Marlborough Central School District.

Mrs. Birdsell S. Taber will be acting chairman of the Milton Home Bureau unit this coming winter, taking the place of Mrs. Fred Bond, who is spending several months in Delhi, N. Y.

Scout Troop, 33, of Milton, have moved into its new meeting place. Their headquarters are in the vestibule of the Quaker Church. The trustees of this church have kindly loaned the use of it to the Scout troop this winter.

Miss Young of Albany, a member of the State Library Board, was in Milton recently to make general inspection of the Milton library. The local library board held its quarterly meeting on Thursday evening.

The regular October meeting of the Central School Board of Education was held Tuesday evening. The monthly reports of the treasurer and of the two clerks of works, the Milton and Marlborough school buildings was presented at this time. Bills were audited and ordered paid.

STUDY CLUB ENTERTAINED BY MRS. EVERS, MRS. LEFEVRE

New Paltz, Oct. 27.—The Study Club enjoyed a most delightful afternoon on Tuesday, October 20. They first were made welcome in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Evers on Huguenot street, where they had the pleasure of viewing Mr. Evers' many and excellent paintings and water color drawings, also the rare antiques and priceless treasures of which the Evers' home is furnished. After this visit the club held a short business session in the Reformed Church parlor, which was followed with an organ recital by Mrs. DeWitt Clinton Seward who played "Meditation de Thais" by Massenet, "Voix Celeste" by Batiste, "Prelude in G Minor Opus 23 No. 5" by Rachmaninoff, and "The Bells of Aberdorey" by Stewart.

The group then adjourned to the home of Mrs. Frank LeFevre on the same street, where amid the beautiful autumn flowers and foliage and candles Mrs. Lawrence H. Vandenberg and Miss Maude Richards presided at the tea table with Miss Mary Deyo acting as assisting hostess. This social time was very much enjoyed by all present.

CADET Tom at West Point

THE ARMY-NAVY GAME

The big day is here! Just before dawn the Army and Navy march out to the field to play the Army-Navy football game. And how the Cadets cheer when the Army team takes the field for practice!

It's a game the Fiebers will never forget... The Army made and the Navy lost following the ball up and down the field... Army ahead—Navy hoovering away at the line until it has the ball only fifteen yards from the winning touchdown.

The game is over—Army wins! The whole Cadet Corps piles down out of the stands... some climb down the Navy goal posts... others march back and forth, singing and cheering in front of the Midshipmen, who have to sit still and grin.

FRANK BUCK
"In this business of bringing 'em back alive there's no second chance. Your muscles must act together instantly. There's one thing I know that is definitely helpful in building up this rare, cool courage. It's milk. Not many people know that milk is such a nerve food. And, of course, milk also helps keep muscles at their highest vigor. Believe me, every man is a better man when he drinks milk."

THE CADETS HAVE A FEW HOURS MORE. "You do," says Tom at supper, "next year, I want to be out there playing against Navy—down about you, Buck?" And Buck answers, "I want to start the game. And let me tell you, I'm going to follow the advice which gave me... I'm worried right over to drink plenty of milk, so I'll be in top condition when we start spring football practice."

Some people pray for the families which haven't any food. Others give the poor dears something to eat.

Jerry—I can assure you that a good woman's thoughts rise above dress. Perry—That's right. She's probably thinking of a new hat.

When a girl on a street car tries to pull her skirt down just a little more, our guess is that it's a runner just above the knee and not modesty.

The teacher had been giving a lesson on modern inventions to his class. "Can any of you boys," he said, "tell me of anything of importance which did not exist 50 years ago?" "Me," exclaimed one of them.

The head never begins to swell until the mind stops growing.

Paul—There goes a fellow who seems to take the worst possible view of everything. Saul—is he a pessimist then? Paul—No, he's an amateur photographer.

The fellow in this town with the reputation of being the best kisser used to blow a bugle in the Boy Scouts.

Professor—Why are summer days longer than winter days? Student—The heat expands them.

Maid—I'm sorry, but she said I was to tell you that she is not at home.

Caller—Oh, that's all right. Just tell her that I'm glad I didn't call.

Some wives come from fine families, while others bring theirs with them.

"So this fine little baby is a girl?" beamed the distinguished visitor as he walked around the baby show. The proud father assented. "And this other one is of the contrary sex?"

His wife's eyes were on him, and with thought of the wrath to come the young father replied: "Yes, sir, she's a girl too."

If habits were as easily broken as promises most of us would be better off.

Crabshaw—If I find I have to stay away more than one night I will send you a telegram. Mrs. Crabshaw—Never mind. I've read it already—I found it in your coat pocket.

The burden of the world rests upon the shoulders of the average man regardless of the talk that you hear of leaders and supermen.

Doctor, to his Daughter—Did you tell the young man that I think he's no good? Daughter—Yes, dad, but that didn't faze him. He said it wasn't the first wrong diagnosis you made.

Ambition News reels of great men remind us we must work, as well as wish, if some day we'd have folks find us in a picture with a fish.

Charles—Goosh, you're dumb! Why don't you get an encyclopedia? Gladys—The pedals hurt my feet.

Customer (pointing to Chinese characters on laundry ticket)—Is that my name? Laundryman—No description. Means it'll be mended, cross-eyes, no teeth.

One and one are two, but if one and one should marry, how is it, in a year or so, there's two, and one to carry?

The water of Great Salt Lake, Utah, is a 22 per cent solution of salt.

With a bang and a splash the mast falls in the sea. And for the two friends thins are dark as can be. They're minus the mast—they're no longer a sail—it looks like they've come to the end of the trail.

OPTOMETRY

It is not too late to install storm windows on your house. If the seal of your house is in good condition, free from cracks and leaks, and if the heating plant is in good shape, these will decrease heat losses about 25 per cent. The investment should pay for itself in fuel savings in a short time.

TIPS ON CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL

Useless Honor

Far be it from some players to part with an honor unless it is extracted from them by the forceps of a higher card, but prodigality with royal possessions may be the only way to defeat some contracts. For instance:

South contracted for six clubs. He opened with one club and was overcalled West with a heart. Because of his spade ace and club support North raised the clubs to two. East passed and South took a chance on a little slam.

The opening lead was the king of spades, won by North's ace. South went immediately after the adverse trumps. West in the person of Edith Dick, radio singer, gave quite a bit of thought to the faced hand and as a result on the first round of clubs she discarded the spade queen.

The discard cooked the declarer's goose. Eventually he had to lose a spade and a diamond, going down one.

Consider what would have happened had that spade queen been retained by West.

The declarer had no intention originally of taking a diamond finesse, fearing that it would have taken the top spade. Miss Dick analyzed the hand faced North, as did the declarer, as having the construction required for elimination of two suits from the hands of the contracting partnership, followed by a throw-in of a defender and a lead that would give the declarer a ruff and a discard or would be up to a tence.

After extracting trumps the declarer would have played the third out of his hand. Returning to his hand with a trump he would have led the spade ten, which Miss Dick would have had to win. At that time there would have been nothing in the North and South hands but diamonds and clubs.

If Miss Dick led a heart, declarer would have trumped North, discarding the queen of diamonds South. A diamond lead would have given the declarer two diamond tricks. The only loss suffered by the declarer would have been one heart trick.

SOUTH ROUNDOUT.

South Roundout, Oct. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Fairbrother and son, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schleightner and sons, Franklin and Robert, of Port Ewen, and Mrs. Ella Fairbrother of Kingston were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snyder on Friday evening.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary will hold a food sale at the home of Mrs. John Wilson, on Thursday, October 23.

The Rev. C. Smith and Mrs. Smith of Athens were in the village on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenny and children, Mary and Leo, of Fort Plain, spent the week-end here.

Mrs. James Wesley called at the homes of Mrs. W. Radetz and Mrs. Hallinan in Kingston on Friday.

Matthews' truck of Kingston, while on the way to deliver groceries to local stores, skidded on the Connelly road, smashing into the fence and also had the misfortune to lose a 100 lb. bag of lima beans, which disappeared during the accident.

Preparations are in order for the annual turkey supper and fair to be held in the M. E. Church, the date to be published later.

The Auxiliary finished a quilt last week and rag rugs are being woven.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taneau of Kingston and Peter Dunn, Jr., of this place had a collision of their cars on the Connelly road on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Ryan of Paltania Park, N. J., were week-end guests of Mr. Ryan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley and daughter, Lillian, of Port Ewen, and Mr. and Mrs. James Wesley motored to Ruby and over the mountain road on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Brown of Montgomery spent Sunday at the parsonage.

Joseph Scherer is painting the post office and residence.

500 Jewish Farmers At 14th Conference Held at Ellenville

Over 500 Jewish farmers from Ulster, Sullivan and adjoining counties attended the 14th Annual Exhibit and Conference held under the auspices of the Jewish Agricultural Society and cooperating agencies at the Nevele Country Club, Ellenville, on Sunday, October 25.

The morning sessions devoted to a symposium on inter-organization cooperation, opened with an address of welcome by the branch manager of the Jewish Agricultural Society, Village Trustee Herman J. Levine, who stated briefly the purpose of the conference and outlined the program of the day. He then introduced the general manager of the organization, Dr. Gabriel Davidson, its directing head, as chairman.

Jacob Benenson of Napanoch, President of the Woodridge Cooperative Fire Insurance Co., discussed the activities of his organization and made suggestions as to the manner in which their work could be made to harmonize with that of other cooperative groups. The same idea was expressed and developed by the other speakers in connection with the particular organizations they represented. Others addressing the group were: A. P. Kaplan of Accord, president of the Ulster-Sullivan Farmers' Mutual Association; Harry Kaplowitz of Kingston, president of the Inter-County Farmers Cooperative Association; Eli Lande of Loch Sheldrake, Secretary of the Rooming House Owners' Association; Albert Kurdt of Kingston, Manager of the Ulster County Farm Bureau and S. Siegel of Liberty, who represented the Ulster-Sullivan Hotelmen's Association. Dr. Davidson summarized the suggestions made by the various speakers and emphasized the need of greater cooperation.

Dr. Edward A. Goodwin, Sanitary Supervisor of the society, demonstrated a homemade chlorinator. He pointed out how an unsafe water supply could be made safe with the expenditure of approximately $30. This chlorinator has since been made a part of the society's permanent sanitation exhibit at Ellenville.

Benjamin Miller, the society's extension agent and assistant editor of the "Jewish Farmer," presided over the first session of the afternoon. He dwelt on the desirability of having meetings and discussions of the type then in progress. He then introduced Benjamin C. Stone, editor of the "Jewish Farmer," who discussed the milk situation and the various proposals suggested concerning the handling and distribution of milk. He urged a better understanding between the producer and consumer.

A. P. Kaplan of Accord spoke of the desirability and practicality of establishing a cooperative chicken hatchery in this section. Morris Brustein, of Swan Lake, a director of the Sullivan County Farm Bureau, discussed successful vegetable growing in Sullivan county.

Herman J. Levine of Ellenville, presiding over the final session, introduced Dr. Jacob Joffe, Professor of Soils, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J. He spoke of Biro-Bidjan, which is located in southwestern Siberia. Biro-Bidjan is a new territory set aside by the Soviet government for Jewish colonization. He dwelt particularly on its agricultural possibilities. Dr. Abraham Goldberg of New York City, a member of the Board of Governors of the Zionist Organization of America, discussed the agricultural conditions in Palestine. Mrs. L. N. Zipperman rendered vocal selections. She was accompanied by Mrs. William Reicher, director of music, Ellenville High School.

One of the main features of the affair was a fine exhibit of farm and home products. These exhibits were judged by Ulster County Farm Bureau Manager Albert Kurdt of Kingston; Raphael Klein of Ulster Park and Sam Reavin of Kerhonkson. They made the following awards: Poultry, Workmen's Circle Sanatorium, Liberty; B. Gerstein, Spring Glen; Jacob Stollman, Ellenville; Hyman Haimowitz, Fair Falls; J. Stutsky, Ellenville; eggs, Workmen's Circle Sanatorium, Liberty; and A. Nosenchuck, Mountaindale. Vegetables, Morris Resnick, Oak Ridge; Harry Kaplowitz, Kingston; Morris Brustein, Swan Lake; Charles Weinbaum, Ellenville; Morris Rabinowitz, Oak Ridge; Corn, Sam Haimowitz, Accord; H. Haimowitz, High Falls; Louis Schwartz, Warburton; A. Nosenchuck, Mountaindale; Raked goods, Mrs. Isabelle Greenberg, Liberty; Fruit, Raphael Klein, Ulster Park, and Abraham Haimovich, Kerhonkson. Canned goods, Mrs. Max Singer, Odenville; Mrs. Isabelle Greenberg, Kingston; Sheep, H. Haimowitz, High Falls; Pigeons, Nathan Prian, Summitville; Flow, Mrs. Max Singer, Odenville.

This was one of the most successful affairs the society has ever held and recalled the conference held in 1924 on the Ellenville Fair Grounds when the late Louis Marshall, noted constitutional lawyer and philanthropist, and leader of American Jewry was the principal speaker. The Jewish Agricultural Society does not solicit funds. It functions entirely through the use of an endowment fund created by the late Baron de Hirsch, a French nobleman and railroad magnate, who left his entire fortune to be used for the promotion of agriculture and industry among the Jews throughout the world. The society's work constitutes the principal activity of the fund in the United States. It renders financial and educational assistance to Jewish farmers and prospective farmers. Besides its main office in New York City, there are branch offices in Chicago and Ellenville.

the Republican ticket. And I ask your wholehearted support for each and every Republican candidate on national, state, and county tickets, and for Republican candidates for congress, the state senate and the assembly. You need these Republican representatives in congress and the state legislature; the state needs them and the party needs them. And I would add that I am personally grateful for the support you have already given them and me, and for the vote you will give us on November 3.

State's Rights

Now, one of the many important issues of this campaign which my opponent has chosen to ignore, is the question of the sovereignty of this state, and state rights.

I quite understand why my opponent has ignored this issue because he, more than any other man in the state, is responsible for the usurpation of the rights of the state and its people by the present national administration.

It has been very clear for a long time that the governor places his political debt to the present leader of the New Deal Party in the nation, before his obligation to the people of the state. Because of this, the national administration has been able to dominate the affairs of the state of New York, and I do not consider that such complete domination is in the best interests of the people of the 62 counties.

It is my view that the government of the state of New York should be administered primarily in the interest of the people of the state, and while the state should cooperate with the federal government, it should not be dominated by it.

Domination of the state by the national administration, and attempted domination of the state by the federal government, and the people by a spokesman of it in this state, is not in keeping with the democracy in which the citizens of our country take such pride.

I would point out to you that democracy, in truth, is not alone government by the people, but a just and happy social order of a people by that people itself. Democracy, as I see it, implies the existence and acceptance of these institutions which will secure freedom and yet maintain social peace.

Again, real democracy depends upon a society, every individual of which, and every class in which, has the opportunity to participate in self-government, and to obtain the welfare of that individual, and of that society.

When the New Deal administration takes the position, as it has, that it can ride roughshod over the wishes of Congress, and when the governor of the state of New York openly boasts that he has and will continue to usurp the law-making powers and prerogatives of the state legislature, our democracy, as we know it, ceases to exist, and our citizens automatically fall into the category of a subject people.

Trend Toward Dictatorship

In view of the world-wide trend towards dictatorships, thinking people today regard this seizure of power by their chief executives in state and nation with definite distrust and alarm. They are aware that the safety of the republic depends, very largely, upon the maintenance of that form of government handed down to us by our forefathers and written into the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of New York. And they know, too, that if constitutional government is to be made the subject of attack by a self-appointed dictator and his worshiping echo in the state, the door to radicalism is thereby opened wide.

By the same token, all of us are aware that radicalism has spread very rapidly and very widely since the New Deal administration took office. And thinking people are similarly aware that the present national administration, alarmed at the swing away from it of millions who put patriotism before paternalistic porridge, has carefully cultivated the radical vote ever since this swing first became apparent.

As I see it, having given aid and comfort to radicalism, having acquiesced to the hitch-hiking gestures of Socialists and Communists along the New Deal's administrative highway, and having followed the plans of professional master minds who have regarded, and still regard, the world as something to rearrange without regard to the views of the people, the New Deal and its Albany administrator have definitely forfeited the confidence and support of the people of the state.

The New Deal led the way in attempts to circumvent the Constitution of the United States in its promulgation of measures, regulations and acts clearly at variance with the provisions of the constitution. Thus far, some 10 major acts of the present national administration have been found unconstitutional, and these acts represent the major features in the New Deal's attempt to bring about state socialism, planned economy, regulated industry and "a disciplined people," to use a Tugwellian phrase.

Much has already been said about the letter written to Congressman Samuel B. Hill by the political strategist who created the New Deal, but, nevertheless, I think it bears repetition. The letter referred to the Guffey-Snyder coal bill and said: "I hope your committee will not permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation."

And again, recall what the head New Dealer had to say in press conferences after the NIRA decision, when he referred to the constitution as "a relic of the horse and buggy days."

Defiance of Court

Can any thinking man or woman believe that such defiance of the highest court in the land, and such flaunting of the Constitution of the United States, are conducive to the propagation of respect for our institutions, traditions and time-honored love of liberty and orderly government?

Summing up, in view of the New Deal record, who would care to further trust the future of the Constitution of the United States and the future continued welfare of the people of this country, to an administration which has shown so clearly that it does not believe in the American constitution and the American conception of free enterprise, individual liberty, free press and free speech.

There can be no reasonable doubt that to take away and lodge in the chief executive of either nation or state, without the people's consent, the powers which they have kept in their state governments, or which they have reserved to themselves, is a new and dangerous impulse which should be definitely halted.

The obvious way to remove the cause and thereby remove the effect of the condition I have outlined, is to oust the New Deal from Washington and to elect an unfettered governor—one not shackled, in either thought or deed, to a federal political godfather, and one generally interested in that high office in order to be of service to the people and not merely as a political convenience to someone else.

Following New Deal

The people of the state have seen a number of instances wherein my opponent has followed the New Deal in its expressed disdain for constitutional government and existing law. To mention but a few:

There was the Baby NRA Act in the state, still on the statute books despite Republican efforts to remove it after it, and the federal NIRA, had been found unconstitutional.

There was and is the diversion of gasoline tax revenue from highway purposes, as is written into the law and can be found in Section 289-D of the Tax Law.

There was and is the diversion of motor vehicle fees from highway purposes written into the law and which can be found in Section 73 of the Vehicle and Traffic Law.

There was the action of Governor Lehman and his predecessor in failing to appropriate, under the terms of the Friedman Act, the full statutory amount of state aid to schools for the support of common schools.

In this budget message of 1932, Mr. Roosevelt recommended the pegging of state aid to schools, thereby depriving communities of some $5,686,958, and my opponent, continuing the same policy as expressed in his budget of 1932, deprived the communities of full state aid to schools to the tune of $9,000,000. He again followed the same course in 1934, this time to the tune of thirteen million dollars. However, the legislature forced the governor to restore this thirteen million dollars in needed state aid to schools at the special session held in August, 1934.

Duties of Governor

And last—for the present at any rate, but by no means least, is my opponent's apparent unfamiliarity with the duties and powers of governor. I call his attention to Article IV, Section 4, which reads as follows:

"The Governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature, or the senate only, on extraordinary occasions. At extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon except such as the governor may recommend for consideration. He shall communicate by message to the legislature at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to it as he shall judge expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government, civil and military. He shall execute all such measures as may be lawfully executed by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of twenty-five thousand dollars, and there shall be pro-

Mrs. Simpson Divorced Today

It sent crowds scurrying to the curbs. Once it was within the courtyard, the police were in such a hurry to slam the seven-foot gates that the big portals banged against the rear bumpers of the moving car.

Photographers On Roofs

There were 25 photographers on nearby roofs, in windows and on the streets as Mrs. Simpson drove up. During the morning, the chief constable had laid down a strict rule against courtroom photographers under pain of "serious consequences."

In addition, the chief constable demanded a pledge from all persons entering the courtroom that they would refrain from attempting to speak to "any of the principals in the case." Otherwise, he said, courtroom passes would be refused.

The London newspapers, none of which had printed a word regarding the divorce, sent reporters to Ipswich who were placed in the unusual position of holding merely "watching briefs" in the courtroom.

Chances were that most newspapers in the United Kingdom would completely ignore the case in tomorrow's editions.

Streets Thronged

The streets of Ipswich were thronged for the weekly market day. In the corridor of the courthouse husky constables were posted, scrutinizing all passes closely.

Norman Merritt, counsel for Mrs. Simpson, entered court at 1:47 p. m. At 2:04 p. m., two trumpeters, wearing big black busbies and carrying long silver trumpets, pushed their way into the courtroom through 25 or 30 persons who were vainly seeking admission.

A fanfare of trumpets signalled the opening of court at 2:17 p. m. By that time, the police guard had been strengthened, and nine constables were guarding the rear gates alone. Nine officers kept the crowd moving in front of the courthouse.

Justice Sir John Anthony Havers entered the courtroom at 2:46 p. m. To millions of Britons, seeing about normal affairs, no inkling of the importance of the case seeped through the self-imposed censorship of the British press.

Only a Few Aware

Only a comparatively few, in court circles and the upper strata of English society, were aware of the case at all. Those few were greatly concerned.

The fact that Mrs. Simpson, for more than two years has been the almost constant companion of Britain's 42-year-old bachelor monarch, and as likely as not may become the

Fress Knocks Out Harry Porter in 1st

Johnny Fress, 145, who boxes for the first time in Kingston Friday night, won himself a lot of favoritism in Poughkeepsie Monday night by knocking out Harry Porter, hard punching negro from that city in 1 minute and 40 seconds of the first round.

Fress, paired with Paul Decker, 147 pounder from Troy, sent Porter to the deck with a crushing left hand punch on the chin. Johnny is a southpaw, with a dynamic wallop, who looks like the makings of a champion. He lives at Ancram, but is booked out of Kingston by Max Mones.

Mones also handles Johnny Pulver, another Ancram lad scheduled to box in Kingston Friday against the rough and ready Joe Settowski, 131, of Albany. Last night Pulver outpointed Mickey Gallo of Poughkeepsie. He floored him with an overhand right in the second round.

In the main attraction, Poughkeepsians saw their fiscal idol, Ralph Pikone, 160, kayoed in the fifth round of his battle with Joe Furlin, Middletown terror, who put one on Pikone's jaw while he was wide open with only a minute or so left to fight.

Colonials Show Well for the Rens

Frank Morgenweck's Kingston Colonials went through a drill at the Municipal Auditorium Monday in preparation for their skirmish there Wednesday night with the famous Renaissance Club, colored championship outfit of the world.

The Colonials showed up well in the workout and indications are that Murgie will use the same startling lineup against the ebony experts that he did against Kate Smith's Celtics last week. Horace "Pip" Koehler will team up with Lloyd "Lefty" Kintzling for the forward berths; Tiny Hearn will do the center jumping and Charlie Hustia and Phil Rabin take care of the guard positions.

A meeting of the Lake Katrine Home Department will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Wyberg, Fairview street, Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

Rifle and Pistol Supper and Dance

The Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club will hold a Halloween supper and dance at the Mount Marion Inn, located at the four corners in Mount Marion on Friday, October 30, at 9 p. m. Anyone wishing to attend may secure tickets at a very nominal charge from any member of the club or at the following business places: Canfield Supply Co., O'Reilly's on Broadway, Van's Sporting Goods Store on North Front street and Hoyt's Jewelry store on Fair street. Reservation must be secured by Thursday afternoon, October 29.

Mrs. Ruth Roosa, accompanied by Mrs. Ida Roosa and Miss Mary Ostrander were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks on Saturday afternoon.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS IN INTERNATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Headed by Grand Regent Mrs. Nellie Grady, the local court of Catholic Daughters of America is planning to answer the call sounded by Supreme Regent Miss Mary C. Duffy of Newark, N. J., to the 2,000 courts and 200,000 members of the order, to respond to "Today's Challenge to Catholic Womanhood."

Plans have been announced for a great international campaign throughout the North American jurisdiction of the order to enroll 100,000 additional Catholic women and girls in the ranks of the society. Miss Duffy has just returned from an extensive tour of the middle west and southern states, where she made scores of official visits, and was royally welcomed, and elaborately feted by subordinate courts of the order in a score of states.

Preliminary arrangements for the great international campaign, known as "Today's Challenge to Catholic Womanhood," will be launched this week in the 2,000 courts of the society in the United States, Canada, Alaska, Cuba, Porto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone. The intensive movement will open Sunday, November 15, with a great simultaneous activity in which all of the courts of the organization will take part, and thousands of volunteer women and girls affiliated with the C. D. A. will begin their work of interviewing acceptable and eligible ladies and girls for enlistment in the ranks of the Catholic Daughters of America.

California's mental hospitals had 20,105 patients at the close of the last fiscal year, 5,700 in excess of the normal capacity of these state institutions.

WHY PUT UP WITH PIMPLES, WRINKLES AND A SALLOW SKIN?

So many women throw their charm and beauty away—look years older than they are—because they neglect common constipation. They forget that badly balanced meals, over a period of years, can change how they look and feel.

Often their menus lack the "bulk" needed for regular habits. Then constipation, the beauty-killer, sets in. Other effects may be headache, nervousness, sleeplessness.

Get "bulk" back into your meals with a delicious cereal: Kellogg's All-Bran. It absorbs moisture within the body, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system.

Just eat two tablespoons daily, either as a cereal or in cooked dishes. All-Bran is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MODES of the MOMENT

"DINNER FOR FOUR"

Here is a svelte black lace version of what to wear for one of those little dinners at home. It is designed with a high necked tunic whose sleeves are barely more than a hint and whose skirt has slight fullness in the back. A soft blush pink flower perched on the shoulder is the only note of color.

RADIO PROGRAMS START NEW FUN

New Game Idea Is Full of Fun

Millions of listeners howl with laughter hearing the various Question and Answer Periods as they come over the air several evenings each week. "What fired star does not alter his position?" The victim decides it's the North Star, which is the correct answer. "When is it in correct to fly the American flag?" He splutters over that one and loses. At night, of course.

The Fun and Laughter are Surprising the Country.

We all like fun and we like brain teasers to see if we are as smart as other people. In fact, asking brain teasers is one of the fastest ways to unhook a party. The willing victim, required to answer the questions quickly, becomes confused and often gives answers so funny they keep a roomful of people in an uproar of laughter.

No matter how stiff and formal guests may be they quickly unwind and show real good fellowship as the game progresses. At the end of the quiz you rate each person as Genius—Superior—Excellent—or Good—depending on speed of answer and its correctness.

We have just published a 40-page booklet, Can You Answer This One? containing over 100 questions, including history, literature, science and those of a general nature. They are easy enough to answer if you stop to think. But the fun is in not giving very much time for an answer. Send for this new booklet tonight and have it ready for the rapidly approaching party season.

Send for our booklet, Can You Answer This One? to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 169 West 18th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

'Good Earth' Done After 4 Years—As Soon As 28 Reels Are Cut

1.—In "The Good Earth," story of Chinese peasant lives, O'Lan, slave girl (Lulie Rainer) becomes the wife of Wang Lung, poor farmer (Paul Muni). Wang Lung and O'Lan work together, prosper, have children. But drought and famine strike the farmlands of Wang Lung. Faced with starvation, the family decides to move to the great city where the father may find employment. Wang Lung looks at his wife and little daughter and makes the great decision—to leave "the good earth" which has failed him. . . .

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—In the cutting room: "The Good Earth."

Last completed film of the late master producer, Irving G. Thalberg, Pearl Bucks story of Chinese peasant life, is being whittled from its first "rough cut" of 40 reels to a release version of 12.

Four years, three directors, innumerable writers and $2,500,000 went into its preparation and making. Thalberg bought screen rights to the novel in 1933 at a reported price of $25,000. George Hill, director, spent a year in China photographing "atmosphere" and collecting 390 cases of "properties." He brought back more than 200,000 feet of film. Diplomatic negotiations with the Chinese government, which wanted China to be done right by, were necessary. Chinese technical advisers swarmed over the Metro lot.

Austrians Have Leads

Shortly after his return, Director Hill was found shot to death, the fatal weapon nearby, in his beach house. But the production went on. Victor Fleming chose locations, started preliminary work—and went to the hospital for an operation. Sidney Franklin took over, and carried the job through to completion in August.

In early stages, casting and language problems had the Culver City lot a-dither. At first an all-Chinese cast, speaking Chinese, was considered. Eventually they cast Paul Muni and Lulie Rainer, both Austrian-born, as the leads, hired Tilly Losch, Austrian dancer, as the siren, and Charles Grapewin, Walter Connolly, Jessie Ralph and Harold Huber—and trusted to make-up, acting art, and simple English. Most of the others are orientals. For crowd scenes as many as 1,200 oriental extras had roles—and this embarrassed other companies needing Chinese "atmosphere." Metro combed the coast, and placed all the usually available English-speaking orientals under contract.

Working on the script at various times were Frances Marion, DuBose Heyward, Marc Connelly, Talbot Jennings, Claudine West, Tess Schlesinger and many other writers. Nearly a million dollars went into story preparation alone before the cast started acting.

Principal location was 500 farmland acres 50 miles from Hollywood. Eight months were required to transform these into "typical Chinese terrain," with terraced hills, fields, garden plots, and peasant huts. The eight months included growing Chinese crops, including mustard, melons, onions, leeks.

Weather a Problem

Another set was an entire walled town of 30 acres, with a mandarin's palace, markets, bazaars, rice fields. Then there was a city section including prince's palace and 10 converging streets.

Weather was a constant problem. During the market scene, for instance, a heavy wind blew joos papers, dried ducks, sails, banners and other bazaar goods into a nearby boulevard, some of it landing in the laps of amazed truck drivers. Weather-guessing was a favorite sport for the actors. "Ribbing"

Lulie Rainer was another.

2.—In the great city they beg, labor, starve, until the revolution comes. O'Lan, caught in a crowd of looters, finds jewels which make them rich, but receives injuries which ultimately cause her death. And riches bring her no happiness for . . .

3.—Wang Lung, now wealthy, becomes enamored of Lotus, a tea house girl (Tilly Losch). O'Lan views with breaking heart Wang Lung's taking of a second wife. The latter is unfaithful, with Wang Lung's son, and he banishes them from his home . . .

4.—A plague of locusts, however, brings reconciliation between father and son. Wang Lung arranges the boy's marriage and—on the wedding day—O'Lan dies. But she is made happy in her last moments by the contrite Wang Lung, who now realizes she is his only love.

She spent half an hour one day on location looking for pink, octagon-shaped eggs laid, she was told, by a certain "ground bird." In retaliation she borrowed a farmer's tractor and raced it back and forth to the frantic despair of the company, which feared for its own and her lives and limbs.

Despite every potentiality that "The Good Earth" could have been turned into a cinematic muddle, Hollywood is optimistic. It knows how Thalberg's production methods worked.

'Downing Costs'

(Cutting The Most But By Using Inexpensive Cuts)

| Dinner | Serving Four |
|-----------|--------------------------------|
| Pot Roast | Strained Vegetable Chili Sauce |
| Brood | Plum Conserve |
| Hot Flax | Queen Pudding Banana |
| Coffee | Milk For Children Daily |

| Pot Roast | (Good Cold, Too) |
|------------------------------|--|
| 4 pound beef round | 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers (optional) |
| 1/2 cup salt pork | 2 tablespoons chopped celery leaves |
| 1/2 cup flour | |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | |
| 1/2 teaspoon pepper | |
| 2 tablespoons chopped onions | |

Melt pork in deep kettle, when smoking add beef dusted with flour, add rest of ingredients. Cover and cook until well browned, turning several times. Lower fire and simmer 1½ hours. Add vegetables.

| Vegetables | |
|--------------------|------------------------------|
| 6 carrots, scraped | 3 tablespoons minced parsley |
| 6 potatoes, peeled | 1/2 cup boiling water |
| 6 turnips, peeled | 1/2 teaspoon salt |

Arrange vegetables around and on top of beef, add rest of ingredients and cover tightly. Cook slowly 1 hour, or 15 minutes longer, if foods are not tender when tested with fork. Carefully remove to serving platter and garnish with sprigs parsley.

| Queen Pudding Banana (Serve Cold) | |
|-----------------------------------|------------------------|
| 2 cups bread, cubed | 2 cups milk |
| 1/2 cup sugar | 1/2 cup butter, melted |
| 1 teaspoon vanilla | 1 cup sliced bananas |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 1/2 cup jam |
| 2 egg yolks | |

Mix bread, vanilla, salt, yolks and milk. Add sugar and butter. Pour into buttered baking dish. Bake 30 minutes in pan hot water in moderately slow oven. Carefully remove to edge of oven and top with bananas and jam. Cover with meringue.

DIGGING, CURING AND STORING GLADIOLUS BULBS

By The Master Gardener

About the time of the first killing frost the corms of gladiolus will be ready to dig. If possible, wait until the foliage has turned yellow, indicating the plants are ready to rest, but if the tops do not turn brown by freezing weather it will be necessary to take them up anyway.

Dig the corms with the tops on, and then remove the tops after digging using a sharp knife and cutting close to the bulb. Always dig the corms—never pull them up by the tops. Burn the tops promptly after removal.

Immediately after the corms are dug, remove them some distance from the bed, and allow to dry in the sun and wind for a day or so. If there is no danger from frost, then place in shallow flats or boxes and put in a cool, dry, well-ventilated location for about two weeks for curing. Do not dry or store in deep boxes or containers.

After the curing period is over, clean the bulbs, removing the dead roots, and separating the cormels from the mother corms.

Before storing, it is advisable to treat with naphthalene flakes as a precaution against damage from thrips. Put in paper bags and with each 100 corms mix 1 ounce of naphthalene flakes. Do not put in tightly closed tin box, because evaporation of moisture is necessary. At the end of two to three weeks, take out of the bags and remove the excess of naphthalene, as too long exposure to naphthalene may injure the corms.

Store in shallow wooden boxes, in a cool dry place, having a temperature preferably of about 40 degrees. Be sure they are stored in container where good ventilation is possible.

The 3-Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread a thick ointment over the chest and cover with warm cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medication Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 15 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages.

This combined poultice-and-vapor action lessens phlegm—relieves irritation—helps break congestion.

Navy Seeks New Merchant Marine As Fighting Ships Near Peak Form

By LLOYD LEHRMAN

Washington, Oct. 27.—Navy day will be celebrated on October 27, the anniversary of the birth of President Theodore Roosevelt, by the beginning of a new and vigorous drive to rebuild the navy's highly important auxiliary—the merchant marine.

The nation's sea-fighting force of 306 warships of 1,062, 875 tons—while slightly less powerful than the British navy—exceeds the sea strength of the rest of the world. Naval authorities are now pleased with its size and efficiency and plan to increase it to treaty strength by 1942.

Navy Cooperating.

Navy officials admit, however, that the merchant marine has been lagging behind, and Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, has given whole-hearted endorsement to the navy league's determination in this year's celebration to emphasize the merchant marine's importance in sea power.

Nelson Macy, president of the league, declared that emphasis on the merchant marine, naval bases, and emergency production of munitions as vital elements in sea power was a national necessity.

Setting up of the new maritime commission is expected to provide the stimulus for the drive. The commission, already headed by a navy man, will have $187,000,000 in cash and notes to put new life into the merchant marine, and is counting heavily on the cooperation of private ship operators.

350 Ships Needed

A preliminary survey by shipping board officials disclosed that 350 new ships are needed to put the United States on even terms with the world's other great nations. Only 100,000 tons of merchant ships are now under construction.

The navy on this navy day will have 95 warships of 288,215 tons under construction—to add to its 306 vessels in service—and plans for the construction early next year of two battleships and the conversion of 44,000 tons more into destroyers and submarines.

MORE POWER ON THE WAY

One of Uncle Sam's newest destroyers, the "Lamson," was launched at Bath, Me., last June—another powerful link in the navy which, except for the slight margin Britain holds, is the strongest in the world.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—Without getting up any great amount of steam, the stock market stretched back on the recovery trail today for gains of fractions to around 3 points.

After a fairly lively opening the ticker tape began to drag and from then on until near the final hour the pace was exceptionally slow. Further pleasing business news was a helpful influence.

There were light selling intervals, but these did little more than shade the session's peak quotations.

Transfers approximated 3,400,000 shares.

Steel shares led the comeback, followed closely by selected motors, utility, rail, copper, merchandising and specialty issues.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members, N. Y. Stock Exchange, 130 Broadway, New York city; branch office, 282 Wall street.

Quotations at 3 o'clock.

AUTOMOBILES ON FIRE IN PUBLIC PARKING GROUNDS

A Lincoln sedan owned by Fred Davi, parked in the public parking ground on John street, caught fire about 3:30 o'clock Monday night when Davi attempted to start the car. The fire, confined to the front of the car, burned fiercely for several minutes until driven from the Whitehall station out the flames by the use of chemicals.

Local Girl Wins Chance on Radio

Radio fans who tune in on WNEW, Newark, nightly to hear Scott Fisher's band, and enjoy the vocal soloist, Miss Evelyn Burrell, will be surprised to know that they are listening to an Ulster county girl—Emily Buzdygan.

This petite vocalist, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Buzdygan of St. Remy, has been singing with Fisher for about a month and is trying out for a spot with Russ Morgan's swing band. A theatrical agent planned the name of Evelyn Burrell on her when she started with the Fisher ensemble, and thus her identity has been under cover.

During the summer, Miss Buzdygan sang at Huling's Barn and at the Clinton Ford in Rosendale, and was very popular with the patrons, charming them with her personality as well as her sweet voice. Gene Clark, pianist at the Ford, who arranged all of Miss Buzdygan's music, through friendship with Scott Fisher, procured for her the job with the radio orchestra which plays at the El Dorado Club in Arcola, N. J.

Instead of resuming her studies at New Paltz Normal School, which she attended for three years, Emily turned to singing as her profession instead of a vocation and may some day be one of the leading songbirds of the air.

"No, Emily is not a soprano," Gene Clark told a reporter. "She just has a sweet voice, the kind that people go for these days. Outside of that I don't know what to say, except that I hope she is able to land that job with Russ Morgan on the N. B. C."

Miss Buzdygan came before the public as a vocalist on Kingston Night, broadcast over WGY, Schenectady a year or so ago, and from then on made rapid advancement as a popular singer in the two clubs, Huling's Barn and the Clinton Ford. She is a graduate of Kingston High School, and has many friends among the younger social set of Kingston.

Plan Recreation For Ulster County

William Smith, from the Rural Social Organization Department of Cornell University will be in the county Wednesday, October 28, to meet with the recreation leaders in the county. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss what can be done about recreation in Ulster county. The meeting will begin at 4 p. m. in the Home Bureau office. All those who attend are asked to bring a sandwich or whatever they choose for a picnic supper. Hot coffee and tea will be prepared at the office. For those who are unable to come to the afternoon session the meeting will be continued during the evening. All men and women in the county who are interested in a recreation program are invited to attend.

TENANT HAS LANDLORD ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY

Reidar M. Longacre, of Longacre Bros., grocers at 83 St. James street, was taken into custody Monday afternoon by city police and turned over to Troopers Reilly and Elliott, on a warrant issued by Justice Walter Webber of Lake Katrine, charging burglary in the third degree. On arraignment before Justice Webber, Longacre waived examination and furnished bail in the amount of $500 for appearance before the grand jury. The complainant in the case is a Hubert Kelly, who is a tenant in a house owned by Longacre at Lake Katrine and who charges Longacre with having entered the house. The defendant claims to have taken some things that belonged to him and which had been left in a room at the house.

NEW YORK INSURANCE LAW BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP).—Briefs questioning the constitutionality of New York state's unemployment insurance law were placed before the Supreme Court today pending arguments on the validity of the act next month.

Associated Industries of New York State, Inc., and two Syracuse firms, W. H. Chamberlain, Inc., and E. C. Stearns and Company, joined in challenging the law under which employers of four or more persons are required to pay a payroll tax to establish a fund for unemployment benefits.

The law was upheld by the New York Court of Appeals and calls for payment of a one per cent tax in 1935, two per cent in 1937 and three per cent thereafter.

Lee Archer Gets 30 Days

Lee Archer, 34, of East Kingston, who was arrested Sunday night on a charge of having assaulted Esther Davis, an East Kingston waitress, was sentenced Monday before Justice John Wadsworth on a charge of assault in the third degree. The judge fined him $20, with 30 days in the county jail as an alternative. Lee decided to take the 30 days.

Valley Electricians Hold Annual Dinner At Golden Rule Inn

Monday evening, 105 of the leading electrical contractors of the Hudson Valley, together with more than 100 of their friends representing electrical manufacturers, jobbers and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. gathered for their annual fall dinner, at the Golden Rule Inn.

Presiding was President Rowell Cole of Kingston, who introduced as toastmaster, vice-president Herbert N. Warden who introduced the speakers.

The principal speaker of the evening was Bernard J. Weadock, managing director of the Edison Electric Institute, whose subject was "Electric Utilities and Contractor Problems."

Other speakers included H. E. Dexter, general commercial manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.; W. C. Blyden, chief inspector of the Underwriters of the State of New York; H. R. Allen, eastern district manager of the Square D Co.

Favors were distributed to the guests by Canfield Supply Co. of Kingston, represented by W. C. Kingman, president, and Harvey Kolt.

The speeches were followed by entertainment.

Following are the remarks in part made at the meeting by Bernard J. Weadock, vice-president and managing director of the Edison Electric Institute:

"When one speaks of the electrical industry, the public forms the erroneous opinion that the industry is composed of the electric light and power companies alone. Few realize that the industry is more than that. The good or the evil which is directed at light and power companies in reality is directed at the industry as a whole."

The complete picture of the industry should include the electrical and appliance manufacturers, who employ about 300,000 people and whose annual sales amount to about two billion dollars; and the electrical dealers, of whom there are throughout the country upwards of 25,000, employing upwards of 100,000 people and who do an annual business of approximately one billion dollars; nor should the electrical contractor be overlooked.

There are upwards of 12,000 individual contractors in the country employing approximately 50,000 people, who do an annual business of $250,000,000. The electric light and power companies do an annual gross business of about 2 billion dollars and employ approximately 275,000 people; so that when we speak of the electrical industry, we are speaking of the welfare of over 800,000 people who are directly dependent upon the industry for their livelihood and upwards of 100 million people are vitally interested, but not wholly dependent upon the progress and success of the industry. Were we to add the beneficiaries of insurance policies, the total would be further increased.

"Each class has their part in the industry. The dealers are wide awake and progressive merchants. Congratulations to them. In the deep dark days they did not become discouraged, but evolved new methods to meet the crisis. They are alert to the advancement in the art and are keen to have their people appreciate the great benefits that flow from being electrically-minded."

"It is quite impossible to overlook the electrical contractors whose part in the industry has been outstanding. Not quite so well known to the public as the others, yet their achievements are worthy of praise and they have made and will continue to make a large contribution to the progress of the industry."

"The greatest partner in this industry is the public. The public sometimes does not fully appreciate that it is the group for which we are all working, because the public does not fully understand. By the public, I mean the consumer. I do not include within that group those who for political or selfish reasons would seek the destruction of an industry which throughout the years has done more to make life livable than any other within the memory of man. The consumer is entitled, and I believe has received, fair consideration from all the several sections of the industry. If we compare the machinery, the appliances, and the uses of electricity now as contrasted with even 10 years ago, we must be appreciative of the genius, alertness, skill and ability of every part of the industry which has made life so simple and comfortable, both in daily tasks, entertainment and amusement and the relief from strenuous labors."

"The mystery of electricity is fast disappearing. The people understand its use. The task of electrification is not completed; it has only fairly begun."

"Strange as it may seem, all of these accomplishments, all the advance, all the progress has been made by individuals, not by government. Not a single dollar of government money has been expended for the utilities; quite to the contrary, money exacted from the utilities in the form of taxes has been lavishly spent to injure the industry and apparently in the effort to stop rather than advance its growth. It is our duty, our obligation to continue our march of advancement and even though the path be made difficult by those who do not or will not understand the potent necessity of that advancement, we must go forward and not hesitate. It requires that each branch of the business know and understand each other. We must realize that your welfare is ours; that our welfare is yours; but we must also fully realize that the welfare of the public is paramount to either your welfare or ours."

The father of the industry—Thomas Alva Edison—has given the inspiration. If one were needed, to 'carry on' when he said:

"My message to you is to be courageous. I have lived a long time. I have seen history repeat itself again and again. I have seen many depressions in business. Always America has come out stronger and more prosperous. Be as brave as your fathers before you; have faith; go forward."

Science says "habit" is a tendency toward an action which by repetition becomes spontaneous.

Where to Park Concert Autos

For the first time since the last musical festival held in this city "before the war," the Kingston High School auditorium is completely sold out for the series of Kingston Cooperative Concerts this year, with the first concert to be given by Helen Olheim Wednesday night. That means a record number of autos to be cared for and autos to be parked during the concert are asked to discharge persons at the uptown door of the auditorium and park in the rear of the high school. After the concert they should arrange to take up their passengers at the downtown side door of the high school. Taxis and cars driven by chauffeurs not intending to park should discharge passengers at the front door and receive them there. An autoerry service will be in order.

Amendment Parley To Get State Vote

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP).—In compliance with a provision of the New York state constitution, the voters will decide at next Tuesday's general election whether a convention shall be held next year to revise and amend the constitution.

The last constitutional convention in the Empire State was held in 1915, under the chairmanship of Elihu Root, but at the election that fall the electors rejected the revised constitution that was approved by the convention.

The present constitution of the state was adopted in 1894 and became operative January 1, 1895. One of the provisions in that document was that in 1916, "and every twentieth year thereafter, and also at such times as the legislature may by law provide the question 'Shall there be a convention to revise the constitution and amend the same?' shall be decided by the electors of the state."

Landon Speaks at Pittsburgh Tonight

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP).—Gov. Alf M. Landon brought his presidential campaign to this steel center today for a night address that aides said would deal with "civil service and the spoils system."

A throng jammed Pittsburgh's Pennsylvania station to greet Landon as his special train pulled in at 3:31 a. m. Many in the crowd wore straw hats labeled "Young Republicans."

On hand to welcome the Kansas governor were western Pennsylvania Republican leaders.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms of Illinois was among those in the governor's party on the trip from Philadelphia, where he spoke last night.

The governor stayed aboard his train more than an hour after its arrival, then went to a hotel, where he might rest during the day prior to his address.

TIANO FINED $10 FOR PERMITTING GAMBLING

John Tiano was arrested Monday by Deputy Sheriff McCullough on a charge of permitting gambling in his pool room at East Kingston. He was arraigned before Justice John Wadsworth, who fined him $10.

Tiano's arrest was a delayed echo of the arrest October 6 of nine young men who were charged with shooting craps in the Tiano establishment and who were given suspended jail sentences of five days each.

GLASCO MAN FINED $25 FOR LEAVING SCENE OF ACCIDENT

Alex Cashara of Glasco was arrested at Saugerties today and arraigned before Justice Charles H. Bennett on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. The justice fined him $25 and he was brought to the Ulster county jail, where he will spend 25 days unless he produces the money.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health:

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams of 113 Hasbrouck avenue, a daughter, Frieda Marie, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Becker of East Union street, a daughter, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ballouan of 95 West Pierpont street, a son, Gerald Oscar, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Turck of 138 Delaware avenue, a son, Charles Joseph, at Benedictine Hospital.

Indictments Sought

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—The Federal government sought today to convict Louis Buchalter and Louis Shabo of violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, charging they were leaders in a racket for money turnover in 1932 and 1933. Twenty-three individuals and corporations identified with the pair pleaded guilty yesterday as the trial began.

Ten Days for Mulla

Thomas Mulla of West Strand, was arrested Monday on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Bertha Middleberg of 13 West Strand, charging Mulla with disorderly conduct in attempting to force an entrance into her apartment. Mulla was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail when arraigned before Judge Callahan in police court today.

Public Prosecution Charge

Gordon Edmonds, 35, negro, of Highland, was arrested at that place Monday by Sergeant Lockhart and Trooper Baker on a charge of public intoxication. He was brought to the county jail to await a hearing before Justice Walter Seaman.

Winchell-Leahy

Miss Marguerite M. Leahy of 10 Liberty street and Ara F. Winchell of 735 Broadway, were married in Schenectady on October 25, by the Rev. James W. Carroll. They were attended by Miss Joan M. Bonesteel and Howard Winchell, both of this city.

Hosts to Ladies

The First Presbyterian Men's Club will play host to the ladies this evening in the church hall, where a program of entertainment has been arranged in the ladies' honor. Festivities are scheduled to start soon after 8 o'clock, and President Allan Coutant and his helpers expect to see a fine group of the members and guests in attendance.

20th Century Club

Mrs. Van Ingen entertained the Twentieth Century Club on Monday afternoon. The roll call, "Better Speech," was given by Mrs. Fuller and Miss Bernard. Two exceedingly interesting and valuable papers were given, the first on "Scientific Discoveries of Today," by Mrs. Boerker and the other on "Science in the Home," by Mrs. Wood. The next club meeting will be on November 3 with Mrs. Cranston.

Sorosia

Mrs. Millonig was the hostess of Sorosia on Monday afternoon. Following the business session two very enlightening papers were given. Mrs. Wood gave a paper on "Country Life in Modern England," and "Manor Houses of England," was presented by Mrs. Darrow. Illustrations in the form of pictures added to the interest of the papers. Next week Sorosia will meet with Mrs. Drake at her home on O'Neil street.

Makowsky-Hodes

Alligerville, Oct. 27.—The marriage of Miss Frieda Hodes and Milton Makowsky both of Alligerville took place Saturday evening in the K. of P. Hall in this village. The occasion was a very happy one with nearly 200 guests being present.

Coughlin Says WPA Workers Make Up 'Scab Labor' Group

Cleveland, Oct. 28 (AP).—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin invaded New England today for the second time of the presidential campaign after telling a Cleveland audience that President Roosevelt was the "greatest employer of scab labor in all history."

He said he referred to the WPA which he characterized as "a great army of scab labor." WPA workers, he said, should "be demanding $150 a month."

When Father Coughlin declared that WPA workers were paid $50.03 a month a voice from the gallery of Cleveland's huge public hall shouted "and they want some of that back."

"Now I understand why the scab editors support the scab President," the radio priest said in resuming his address.

"The great scab army has had a prevailing wage paid to it. They call it a New Deal, but it's the same New Deal that was handed out to the poor negroes in the cotton fields of the South before the days of Lincoln. There's no man who can support himself and his wife on $50 a month, nor on $100 a month."

Vatican Frowns

Vatican City, Oct. 27 (AP).—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's manner of attack against President Roosevelt, it was reported, authoritatively today, is thoroughly disapproved in the Vatican.

It would be difficult, however, one prelate said, for any action to be taken at this time against the radio priest who speaking before a Cleveland, Ohio, audience last night termed Mr. Roosevelt "the scab President" and said he was the "greatest employer of scab labor in all history."

The prelate pointed out that any open action by the Vatican at this moment, on the eve of the American presidential election, might be construed as meddling in politics.

Other prelates said there was no doubt Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, who is in the United States, was receiving a vast amount of information on Father Coughlin even though the papal secretary of state is not on a political mission.

When he returns to Vatican City, they said, he cannot but inform the Pope of the situation in America and predicted there would be much greater possibility than that the Vatican may clamp down on Father Coughlin after the elections are out of the way.

Los Angeles Murders

Los Angeles, Oct. 27 (AP).—Los Angeles police hunted another black-side against "bums" today, this time at the city limits instead of the state border. Determined to make this an unpleasant resort for indigent transients, Police Chief James E. Davis said undisciplined who run the black-side will spend a winter at hard labor in prison camps. He recommended six-month sentences.

To Visit Portsmouth Lodge

Roger H. Longman and Pearl H. Carey, past district deputy grand masters of the Green-Letter Masonic District, expect to go to Portsmouth tonight when the present district deputy, Dr. Charles A. Stearns of Franklin Hollow, makes his official visit to the Portsmouth Lodge. A banquet will be part of the activities of the evening.

After the wedding service a very beautiful supper was served followed by dancing with music furnished by a Kingston orchestra. The young couple have the good wishes of a host of friends.

Birthday Greetings

Clarence Rowland, executive of the Fuller-Clermont shirt factory, and former police commissioner, celebrated his birthday today by receiving more than 600 cards and messages of greeting from his employees and friends, including Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman. There were 525 cards from the Clermont shirtmakers, who also presented him with a nice birthday cake, and decorated his desk with floral tributes, conveying their sentiments of good will and esteem. Mr. Rowland, needless to explain, was extremely happy and proud of the way his birthday was celebrated and took the occasion to say that he hoped he would be able to spend many more with the Fuller-Clermont workers, whose friendship he cherishes and whom he regards as his happy family.

Solomon-Friedman

Accord, Oct. 27.—On Sunday, October 18, Miss Ruth Friedman of Accord became the bride of Nathan Rosenberg of New York city. The ceremony was performed in New York by Rabbi Kalmar Solomon of the same city. The bride was very lovely in a simple gown of crushed white satin with long veil which formed part of her train. She carried her prayer book, concealed in a bridal bouquet of white gardenias and baby's breath, the latter being also entwined in the knotted streamers of her bouquet. The bride was given in marriage by her sister, former Gertrude Friedman, and her husband, Benjamin Weiner, of New York. Miss Mildred Cohen of Accord, very attractive in a gown of blue tulle, acted as bridesmaid, while Walter Rosenberg, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Following the ceremony a reception and dance was enjoyed by friends and relatives of the happy couple, after which they departed amid much hilarity for a two week's trip in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania. A newly furnished apartment awaits them upon their return to New York City. The bride was a graduate of Kerhonkson High School in the class of '35, of which she was valedictorian. The groom is a graduate of Columbia University.

Highland, Oct. 27.—Funeral services for the late Charles E. Phillips will be held from his home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Riverside where his death occurred at 4 o'clock Sunday morning from a heart ailment from which he had suffered for a long time, although he had been able to continue his work as patrolman on the West Shore railroad. The Rev. Devello S. Haynes, of the Presbyterian Church, will conduct the services and burial will be in the Highland cemetery. The bearers will be three members of Sunshine Lodge, I. O. O. F., and three members of Brainerd Howell Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. Mr. Phillips is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Minnie Crum, three daughters, Mrs. Daniel Stokes, and Mrs. Albert Phillips of Highland, and Mrs. Frank Chiswell, of New York city; two brothers, Percival Phillips of Pleasant Valley and Grant Phillips of Highland; seven grandchildren, nieces and nephews. He was a member of Sunshine Lodge, No. 929, I. O. O. F.; Brainerd Howell Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way of the New York Central railroad. A service at the home will be held Tuesday evening by the Junior Order of American Mechanics and Sunshine Lodge, I. O. O. F. will conduct their burial service at the burial on Wednesday.

Farm and Home Bureaus

Stone Ridge.
Stone Ridge, Oct. 26.—The Stone Ridge Home Bureau unit held an all day meeting on Friday, at the home of Mrs. John Palen. The chairman, Mrs. Elmer Pratt, was in charge of the program. The morning program consisted of a most interesting and helpful lesson on "Bulbs and Bulb Planting for Indoor Use," given by the landscape leader, Mrs. Frank Zelle. It was followed by a review of and discussion on the lecture of Dr. Wylie on "Hospitality."

At 12:30, a delicious luncheon was served. Each lady furnished two sandwiches and a covered dish which when put together composed a most appetizing meal.

At 2 p. m., Mrs. Elmer Pratt gave the first lesson in "The Art of Good Grooming," in which she stressed on homemade aids and common ingredients used in cosmetics.

Mrs. Ernest Horst of New York, who is a guest of Mrs. Cornelius Hardenbergh, entertained the unit by giving in a very efficient and humorous manner a monologue entitled "Maggie McCarter on Brain Storms." The members were so thrilled they are looking forward to hearing Mrs. Horst again.

Those present were Mrs. C. C. Hardenbergh, Mrs. David Van Wageningen, Mrs. Ernest Horst, Mrs. Cornelius Hardenbergh, Mrs. Thomas Palster, Mrs. Petro Belle, Mrs. Elmer Pratt, the Misses Julia and Josephine Hasbrouck, Mrs. Robert Service, Mrs. Eva Sherman, Miss Katherine Cantine, Mrs. Mary E. Pratt, Mrs. Sadie Snyder, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Frank Zelle and the hostess, Mrs. John Palen.

Mrs. Mary E. Pratt will entertain the unit for their next meeting, which will be held Thursday afternoon, October 29, at 2 o'clock. The project leader, Mrs. Elmer Pratt, will give a demonstration on "The Making of Pure Cosmetics." Any one interested in the subject will be welcome.

Milton.

Milton, Oct. 26.—The Art of Grooming was the subject which Mrs. Gladys Butt of Cornell University spoke upon at the joint meeting of the Home Bureau and the Parent-Teacher Association of Milton, in the Sands Avenue School Thursday evening, October 15. Mrs. Butt confirmed her remarks to hair arrangements and the use of make up. She demonstrated her theories by either arranging the hair or making up the faces of three young ladies who represented three distinct types. Those persons who attended the meeting felt the time well spent. The P-T. A. carried on its regular meeting prior to Mrs. Butt's talk. The membership voted to hold a public benefit in the near future to defray the cost of the Christmas community sing which the Choral Club is working on. Mrs. Herbert Bell gave a brief report of the P-T. A. regional convention that was held in Kingston earlier this month. Character growth with especial stress laid upon recreation and cooperation is the theme for the year's work of the organization. The Milton Choral Club rendered three selections at the banquet of the convention which was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Karl Ernest spoke about the Boy Scouts campaign which is on at present. He also urged that the Scouts' parents allow their boys to spend some time, each week on their Scout work so that they might be able to pass their tests and achieve higher ranks in scouting.

Lake Katrine

Lake Katrine, Oct. 27.—A meeting of the Home Bureau will be held Thursday, October 29, at the home of Mrs. Pratt Boice at 2 o'clock. This will be a lesson in landscaping to be given by Mrs. R. Everett and Mrs. T. Munson. At this time Mrs. Krom will also inform the unit what the members will have to bring when they attend the first lesson in the "Art of Grooming." All members are urged to attend the meeting on Thursday and to bring a visitor or prospective member.

THE REV. JAMES A. LEACH TO PREACH MID-WEEK SERMON

The members of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church will be glad to know that the Rev. James A. Leach, a former pastor, is to be present and will speak at the mid-week service Thursday evening of this week, October 29, at 7:30 o'clock. He will be in attendance at the clergy retreat in West Point this week and will doubtless bring the inspiration of that gathering to this city. It is hoped that his many friends in Kingston will take this opportunity to greet him.

On Sunday Morning, November 22, Dr. Hyla S. Walters who is the daughter of Dr. P. M. Walters at one time pastor of St. James M. E. Church is to speak at the morning service. Dr. Hyla Walters is a most successful physician and surgeon working in China under the direction of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church. She is an unusual speaker, and her friends in Kingston will be glad of this opportunity to meet her.

In County Granges

Huguenot

New Paltz, Oct. 27.—The Huguenot Grange literary program on Saturday evening began with group singing. Mrs. Arthur Kurtz sang two solos, "Russian Folk Song" and "Soliloquy." Mrs. Eugene Relyea read "The Witches' Loaves" from O. Henry, and her guest, Miss Hallock, told about her trip to Labrador. The program closed with two selections, "Contentment" and "Crow's Eggs," sung by Mrs. Arthur Kurtz. After this a game was played and a social time followed.

Stone Ridge

Stone Ridge Grange No. 331 held its regular meeting on Monday evening, October 19. After the usual routine of business, Brother Lester Roosa had charge of the literary hour. Brother Roosa gave a very interesting talk, touching the high spots that are confronting educational leaders today, also the wise use of leisure for old as well as young. The members who had the pleasure of listening to Brother Roosa, hope he may finish his talks in the near future. Two very interesting and educational games were played after which refreshments were served. On Friday evening, October 20, the Grange will hold a time social for young and old. Every one in the community is invited. Prizes for costumes will be awarded.

Milton.

Milton, Oct. 26.—The theme for the lecture program at Milton Grange Monday evening was Country Life. Two poems by America's beloved poet, James Whitcomb Riley, were read. A song by Eunice Gewart and Thoughts for the Discouraged Farmer, by Helen C. Taylor. Song, Grangers, by the Grange. Miss Lulu Clark gave a very interesting talk on her observations of country life in Norway. She stated that while only two and a half per cent of the land is tillable and the mode of farming quite primitive, the crops are abundant and consist largely of potatoes, grain and hay. The people are very thrifty and there are no visible signs of depression. In some places where houses have roofs of sod, flowers, small trees and even strawberries are grown on their roof. Miss Clark also exhibited pictures of interest and knitting done by the ladies of Norway. Miriam Sears and Helen Kent sang a duet, Harvest Hymn. Ida May Kent accompanied on the piano. A Harvest March, led by Eleanor Young concluded the program. Mr. and Mrs. Westervelt Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Rhoades served refreshments. Officers will be elected for the ensuing year at the first meeting in November.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from your druggist a little Ice-Mint and apply once or twice daily. This cooling and soothing preparation quickly relieves the itching and soreness, stops pain and heals the affected parts. Try it. Ice-Mint is highly recommended and is easy and pleasant to use. It means the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy that is so easy to use may be had at such small cost. —Adv.

500 Reserved Seats on Sale for Friday's Bouts at the Auditorium

Extremely satisfied with its first boxing show, as far as the fighting is concerned, but eager to cater to a larger crowd for their next venture is the athletic business, Friday night at the Municipal Auditorium, the Mayor's Industrial Committee has arranged for 500 reserved seats, 200 more than the number set up for the initial program.

There were not enough reserved chairs to meet the demand two weeks ago, the house having been practically a sell-out a day before fight time. The committee, realizing that the sport is a popular one with Kingston fans, if the right matches are made, re-arranged the seating plan so that many of those who could not get the positions they desired may do so for next Friday.

Comment on the bill of scraps that featured the Golden Gloves indicates that the crowd will be back for more action next Friday, especially with Matt Perfetti, 120 pounder from Schenectady booked to show his wares again. Perfetti, a leathered Joe Wal, international champion, for the decision and established himself as one of the best middle ringmen to appear here since the days of Lou Ambers, (Ottis Paradise).

Perfetti, who won the plaudits of every good fight fan, by trimming Wall, is matched with Johnny Gardiner, a crafty ringster from Albany, who is expected to give him a real test at forcing his way to a win over an experienced leather slinger who knows how to jab and back away without taking the sting of a punch. Gardiner is one of those fellows with a cauliflower ear, the trademark of a veteran, and he thinks he's able to take the young Perfetti to the cleaners.

Besides the Perfetti-Gardiner five rounder, there are four other scraps booked for the same route: Phil Coroma, 147, Albany, vs. Benny Richland, 150, Schenectady; Ed Hayes, 135, Albany, vs. Dunk Bala, 133, Amsterdam; Ray Collier, 125, Albany, vs. Mario Severino, 125, Schenectady; Billy DeFest, 126, Albany, vs. Rock Rovella, 128, Schenectady.

Two local boys are on Friday's bill: Johnny Pulver, 130, is matched with Joe Settowski, 131, of Albany, and Johnny Press, 145, is paired with Paul Decker, 147, of Troy.

Those who held reserved seats for the first scraps, and desire the same chairs, are requested to notify the members of the Industrial Committee from whom they ordered their seats before. Due to the heavy demand, the earlier they make the reservations the better.

Flock of Worries Bother 'Dizzy' Dean

Bradenton, Fla., Oct. 27 (AP)—Life is just a bowl of worries for Jerome Herman Dean, but he's gradually getting his affairs in hand, he confided today.

The chief problem that confronted the St. Louis Cardinals' star southpaw pitcher when he arrived here to spend the winter revolved around a canary-colored convertible sedan. The problem was that Mrs. Dean owned the car herself.

Of Diz solved that one by buying himself a light truck that he could t around Bradenton at nearly the same speed his big yellow car will. Mrs. Dean didn't care about the truck, so Diz has that solved.

Then there was a little matter about an income tax return. The government wanted more information than Dean had put down about certain exemptions he claimed. A law fixed that up.

But just when it looked like clearing things, Dizzy went up to Sarasota to play golf and found the sums at end of the round were in the thousands instead of the lower 80's the they used to be.

So he junked his old bag of clubs, bought a whole new outfit. He drove the truck then to carry them. There even were clocks and bathtubs to look like that.

Now there's only one worry left that one's on Branch Rickey, his Dizzy says he's not going to Arizona Beach, where the Cards will next spring. He's going to stay here in Bradenton, where he has a home—also canary-colored.

But how will you get your arm straight? a fan inquired.

"I chuck rocks at the signboards, I don't about batting practice?"

"Pitchers don't need any."

"And you'll be in shape to join a team when it leaves for the States?"

"I'm always in shape, but I probably won't join them. I won't have a contract signed by then."

Strong 10-8 Over Belloise

Albion, Oct. 27 (AP)—The 10-8 victory was recognized as world's heavyweight champion by both the New York and California boxing commissions.

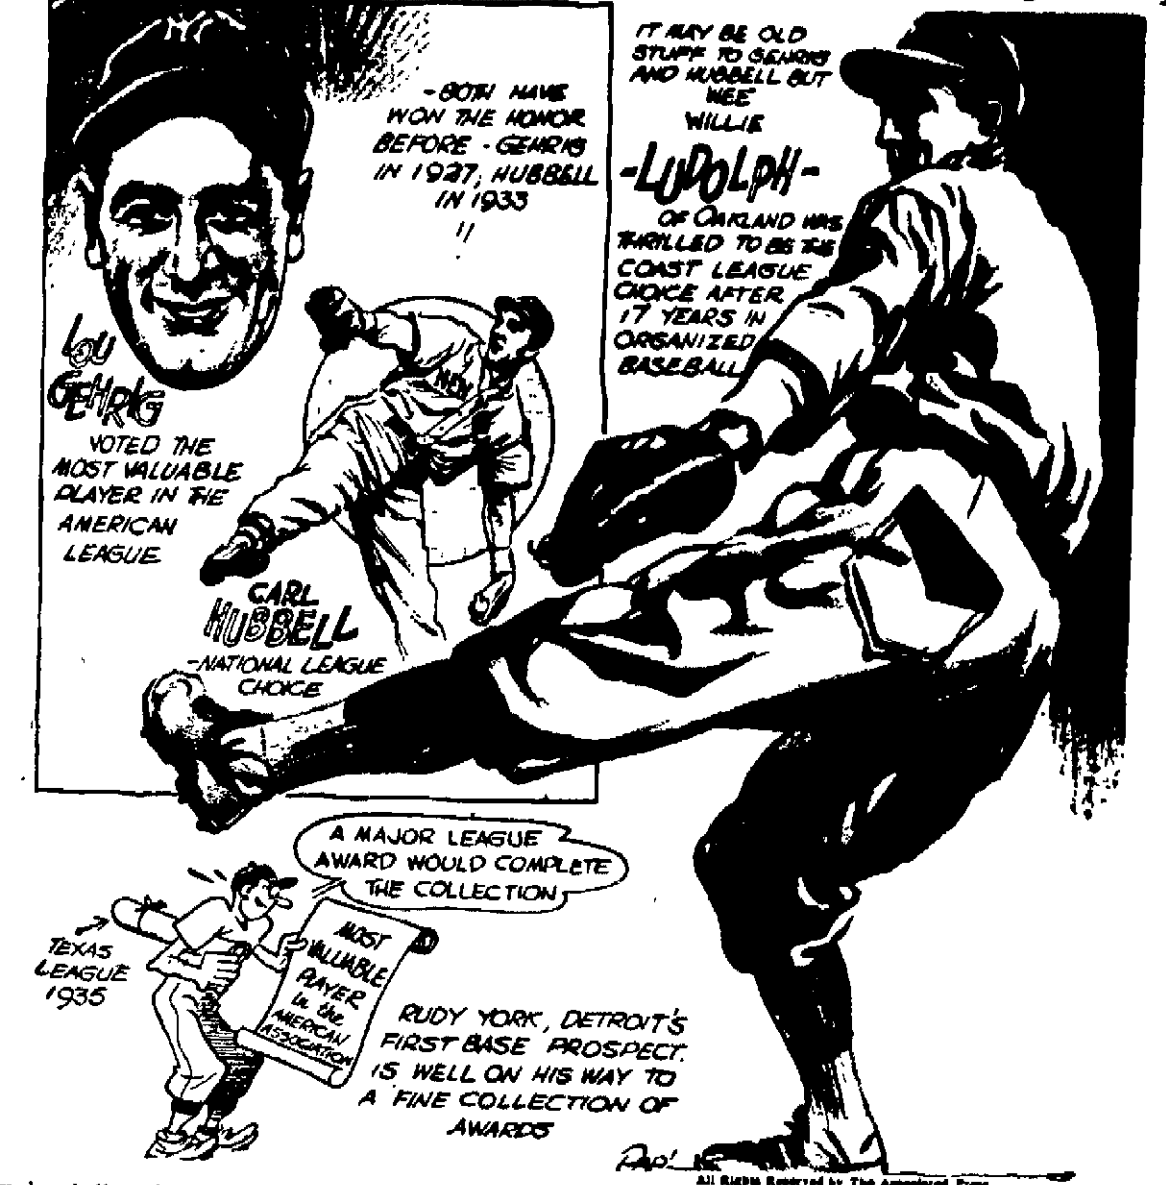

New York's Armstrong, and Mike Belloise, New York, will meet tonight in a scheduled round bout at the Olympic stadium.

But Joe Waterman predicted a knockout of 10,000 and said that, the NBA featherweight champion, will be offered a bout with Belloise.

Waterman now is recognized as the champion by the state commission whereas Belloise is recognized by the New York commission.

Waterman was awarded a 10-8 victory today.

Valuables

Six baseball writers from major league cities put their heads (and votes) together and named Carl Hubbell, the New York Giants' famous screwball pitcher, as the player most valuable to his team during the 1936 National League pennant race.

The selection of Hubbell as the most valuable player made an all-New York affair of the "valuable" contest. Baseball writers on the American League circuit picked Lou Gehrig, New York Yankee iron man, as the most valuable player in the junior circuit.

The choice of Hubbell was a foregone conclusion. The slender left-hander was the biggest factor in bringing the pennant to the Giants. His amazing string of victories—16 straight during the league season—brought his summer's total to 26, against six losses. From July 13 until the Yankees caught up with Carl in the fourth game of the World Series his screwball mowed them all down and not a single defeat was charged to him.

Gehrig a Clinch, Too

Once again Lou Gehrig played in every game his team entered and hit more home runs than any other American League slugger. So it was natural that he should win the nod of approval from the scribes. Gehrig has always been a great team player.

er. Serious and hard working, he goes about his chores with a determination to make every game a winning one. His heavy hitting broke up many a bad game and played a big part in the runaway race the Yankees staged in the American League.

Both Hubbell and Gehrig have known before now the thrill of being selected as the most valuable player on their respective circuits—Hubbell in 1933; and Gehrig in 1927.

Winning the most valuable player award may be old stuff to the Hubbells and to the Gehrigs, but to Willie Ludolph, veteran coast league pitcher, winning the title of most valuable in his league was a distinct thrill.

Last year that title helped make Joe Di Maggio famous. Perhaps it will bring a bit of recognition to Ludolph, whose 17th season in organized baseball was a record of 21 victories and six defeats.

Had Chance in Majors

The title is a mythical one conferred by vote of coast sports writers. Last year there was little division of opinion over Di Mag, but Ludolph barely nosed out his nearest rival, Johnny Frederick, Portland outfielder.

Ludolph, often called "The Thin man," has been with Oakland for six years. He is a product of St. Mary's College and broke in with the San Francisco Seals in 1920.

Experts Unanimous in Choice Of Minnesota for First Place

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—To the surprise of no one, it's unanimous this week for Minnesota in the Associated Press college football ranking poll.

The Galloping Gophers received the No. 1 vote of all 44 expert contributors to the second weekly poll from the key points of observation from coast to coast.

The main race, for second place, was won by Pittsburgh's Panthers, who rebounded at the expense of Notre Dame with a display of rushing power.

Pitt outscored Northwestern, this week's challenger of Minnesota, in a close race for the No. 2 spot. The Panthers leaped all the way from ninth place last week to take the runner-up spot from Duke, which was the victim of the South's main upset and consequently toppled to a tie for 13th place in the latest ranking.

The Results

Here are the results, with points tallied for each ballot on a "10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1" basis.

| Rank | Team | Points |
|------|---------------------|--------|
| 1 | Minnesota | 440 |
| 2 | Pittsburgh | 296 |
| 3 | Northwestern | 238 |
| 4 | U. of Washington | 236 |

| 7 | Southern California | 143 |
| 8 | Louisiana State | 140 |
| 9 | Tulane | 102 |
| 10 | Norquette | 92 |

The second ten, with points:

| | | |
|----|-----------------------------|----|
| 11 | Nebraska | 82 |
| 12 | Vale | 58 |
| 13 | Holy Cross and Duke | 43 |
| 14 | Southern Methodist | 38 |
| 15 | Albany | 35 |
| 16 | Princeton and Purdue | 25 |
| 17 | Santa Clara | 14 |
| 18 | St. Mary's and Pennsylvania | 11 |

There are six survivors of last week's top ten in this week's leading.

Hebrews Set to Continue Drive, Opposing Clubs Made Stronger

Redeemer Five Announces Roster

Manager Johnny Houghtaling announced today the roster of the Redeemer basketball five for the coming season. The team will represent the Church of the Redeemer in the Church Basketball League and intends to play all the leading teams of this vicinity.

The sensational Bock brothers, Ed and Charlie, who were stars with Kingston High last year, are slated to perform in the forward positions; big Sam Messinger, six-foot six in height, will hold down the center position; in the back court Manager Houghtaling has, besides himself, Pete Schline, well known in local basketball circles, Al Bruce and Harry Houghtaling. Chet Fox and Emil Bock are also slated to see action with the Redeemers.

The Redeemers will trot out on the floor next Monday night, inaugurating the Church League, bedecked in new uniforms. Any team desirous of booking games should get in touch with Johnny Houghtaling.

Quick and Tellier In 1st Block Tonight

The first block of their 250 point playoff for the right to meet Erwin Rudolph, national billiard star, will be engaged in tonight by Clifton Quick and Julius Tellier at the Kaslich billiard parlor on Wall street.

Starting time of the duel is 8 o'clock and there promises to be plenty of rivalry with the high honor at stake of playing Rudolph at the same parlor Friday night. The former concert violinist is the first of a string of billiard luminaries scheduled to appear in Kingston.

The second block of the Quick-Tellier match will be played Thursday night.

Holyoke, Mass.—Gaston Lecadre, 144%, France, outpointed Bobby Cortez, 148, Mexico, (10).

BATTERY A WILL PLAY THE FIVE FINGERS WEDNESDAY

The preliminary to the Colonial-Renaissance game at the Municipal Auditorium, Wednesday night, will bring together Battery A team of the 156th Field Artillery, and the Five Fingers.

The brand of competition promises to be tough from start to finish of the League campaign, with no breakers or set-ups, and all of the other starting clubs are apparently better fortified to make inroads on the domination of the Hebrews in the long, arduous schedule getting underway with the opening contest set for Kingston, N. Y., on Wednesday, November 4.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Reveille for Livers
New York—The Rev. Dr. Adolph William Meyer advises fellow pastors to keep their livers alive if they want to keep their congregations awake.

"A torpid liver produces a dull sermon," Dr. Meyer, a veteran of 50 years of preaching, told the annual pastoral conference of the Atlantic District of the United Lutheran Synod yesterday.

"A preacher should keep physical-ly fit, get a good sleep Saturday night," he counseled.

Overton tried to "shoo" the animal. Then the skunk tried to "shoo" Overton with fair degree of success.

So Overton got a shotgun and ended the interference with U. S. Mails.

Ancient Innovation
New York—Hotel men showed something new today—a "tender-izer" guaranteed to soften the toughest steak—and then explained it wasn't really new at all, but centuries old.

Natives of the South Seas, they said, for ages have used the "tender-izers," a liquid extract of the fruit of the carica papaya plant which softens the tissues of the meat within a few minutes. It was included in the National Hotel Exposition.

Quarterly Conference
The second quarterly conference of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church will be held on Wednesday evening, October 28, at 7:30 o'clock. All members are especially urged to be present.

Would Whip Women

Miss Reah M. Whitehead (above), Seattle justice of the peace, advocates whipping posts for women, too, with women whip wielders if the Washington legislature approves a state bar committee plan for legalized whipping of male offenders. "I'm against all whippings," she says, "but women's skins are no tenderer than men's." (Associated Press Photo)

PLATTEKILL

Plattekill, Oct. 27.—The Plattekill Fire Department will conduct a card party in the firehouse, Thursday evening, October 29, for the benefit of the department.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dunn of Massachusetts, visited their farm, "Ideal Rest," near Plattekill, last week-end.

Miss Mayella Ingraham of Ohioville, spent the week-end with her cousin, Mrs. Edmund Wager.

Carlton Rhodes of Mount Vernon visited Homer Hill, last week.

Russell Seamon and friend, of Oak Hill, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willet Deyo.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wright of Ohioville were visitors here, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gerow of New Paltz spent Sunday in this village.

Mrs. Vincent Gusofsky entertained company at their home last week.

Elbridge Gerow is having the house formerly occupied by George Nabor, wired for electricity.

Charles Everett gave a second selection of songs, over radio station WGNy at Chester on Thursday.

Compositions of Carrie Jacobs Bond, were given. Mrs. Edmund Wager was accompanist.

Miss Ruth Smith is visiting relatives in the west.

PHOENICIA

Phoenicia, Oct. 26.—The publicity department of Daytona Beach, Fla., in an article stated that Mr. and Mrs. Erwin S. Spink of Phoenicia are among the early arrivals at the famous southern winter resort. And that their arrival marked a week which brought an influx of early visitors.

Mrs. Gross and daughter, Edna, accompanied by Mrs. Sadie Brown of Cold Brook, spent Thursday in Kingston.

Mrs. Otis Elsworth and daughter, Edna, spent the day in Kingston. Mrs. Elsworth visited her cousin.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid will hold the annual election dinner and supper in the lecture room of the Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Bailey and family are now settled in the Baptist parsonage. The Baptist people have called him as pastor of the church.

Mr. Bailey came from Roxbury. Miss Rowe of Chichester is helping to care for Mrs. A. Woolheater, who is still unable to leave her bed.

J. D. Van Kleeck of Kingston and nominee for county clerk visited his old friends in Phoenicia Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kinsey arrived from Lake Placid to his home here. Congratulations were extended to them Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Simmons enjoyed a trip Sunday afternoon going by way of Tannersville, over the Palen-ville mountain to Saugerties and home by way of Kingston. Mr. Simmons visited his father in Tannersville.

Mrs. W. Van Steenberg has recovered from her recent illness. G. Conway was a Tannersville caller Wednesday.

William Rider and family have moved in the Neal place near the M. E. Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Constable have moved from the Neal place to one of the houses of the Weinberg estate.

The new officers of the Tishkwa Rebekah Lodge will be installed by the district deputy president, Mrs. Lillian Lamoree of Queen-of-the-Catskill Lodge, Tuesday evening, November 3.

United We Fall

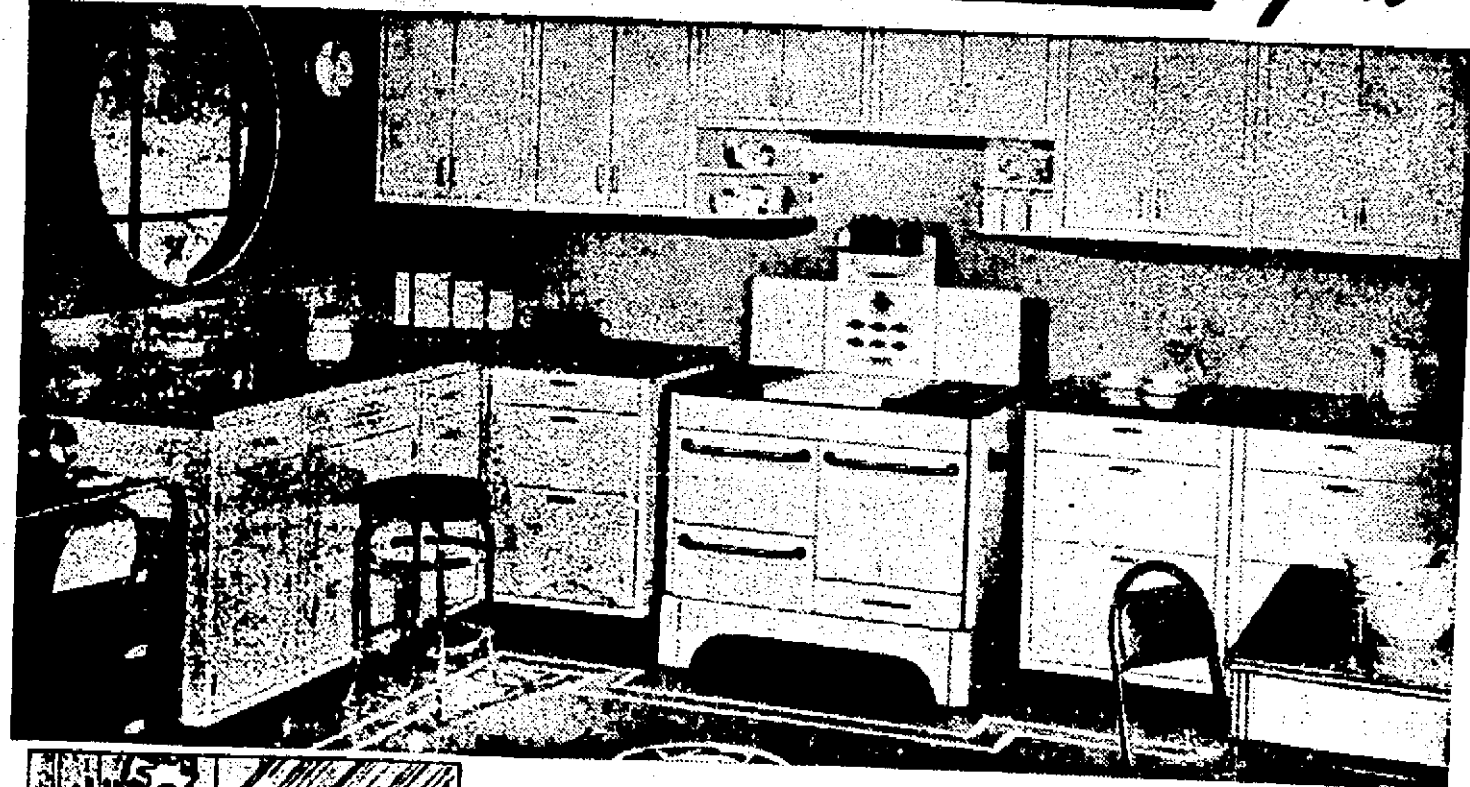

Williams Lake, B. C.—A hunter's shot that killed a Canada goose also killed a passenger—a humming bird traveling south nestled in the soft warm feathers of the larger bird. Ornithologists say it is common practice for humming birds to grow away, and frequently when the geese are brought down the small creatures dart away from their crashing air-flier.

Catskill Mountaineers.

William Farde of 66 German street and Edgar V. Allen of 35 Lucas avenue, who have earned a wide reputation in this vicinity for their instrumental music over the past forty years, have filed a certificate with the county clerk stating that they are doing a business under the name and style of "Catskill Mountaineers."

The annual turkey dinner will be served in Epworth Hall, for Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, Wednesday, October 28, from 1:30 until 7 p. m. The menu: Turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, boiled onions, salad, cranberries, pie and coffee. There will be a sale of candy, aprons and fancy articles in the lecture room.
